"As part of its corporate social responsibility policy, the Al-Sulaiti Law Firm provides Pro bono legal services to the Law Clinic that has recently been established at Qatar University College of Law under the leadership of Dean Mohammed Al- Khulaifi. The Law Clinic receives real life cases from clients, especially the vulnerable, that students study, discuss and decide whether they warrant legal representation. Dr. Mohamed Y. Mattar, Clinical Professor of Law and Director of the Law Clinic welcome the support of the Al- Sulaiti Law Firm in taking these cases to courts and winning, thus assisting us in realizing the three pillars of clinical legal education, namely knowledge, skills and values." To honor its mission towards the legal profession, the Law Firm regularly accepts law graduates to complete their two year training period and obtain their license to practice law.

We have established the Junior Lawyer Programme to target Primary and Secondary school students and introduce them to the Legal field, by establishing this programme we help students understand the role of the Legal Profession in society and provide them with a brief introduction to 'the journey of becoming a lawyer'.
